The Sulphur Institute Announces Sulphur World Symposium 2010 – Doha, Qatar April 12-15, 2010

WASHINGTON, DC, July 17, 2009 — The Sulphur Institute (TSI) announced today its Sulphur World Symposium 2010 will be held April 12-15, 2010 in Doha, Qatar.

“The sulphur industry is still experiencing unprecedented change and TSI will provide experts to closely examine what is happening in the sulphur and related industries,” stated Catherine Randazzo, TSI’s president and CEO. The need for up-to-the-minute information is incredibly important and industry players will be provided outstanding value for their participation.

Sulphur World Symposium returns to the Middle East where record attendance was set in 2008. TSI is working with its newest member, Tasweeq, to secure top-notch speakers from the region to discuss current and future trends.

All industry representatives can start their planning now by noting these dates on their calendar. With sulphur production and trade continuing to be more and more prominent in the Gulf region, TSI is increasing its activities in this part of the world. Additional details regarding plans for the event will be available at: www.sulphurinstitute.org.

The program will consist of morning presentation sessions and afternoons for networking. Program development has started and all members of the industry are invited to provide suggestions for presentation topics. “We want to deliver what the industry needs,” added Randazzo. TSI’s Annual Meeting of the Members and Directors will be held concurrently with the symposium.

The Institute also announced that Sulphur World Symposium 2011 will be held in New York, New York, USA.

Founded in 1960, TSI is committed to representing all stakeholders actively engaged in producing, buying, selling, handling, transporting, or adding value to sulphur. Member companies are based in Asia, Europe, the Middle East and North America.
