The Sulphur Institute welcomes five new member companies — diverse in operations, diverse in geography

WASHINGTON, DC, July 29, 2013 – The Sulphur Institute (TSI) announced today that it is welcoming five new member companies into the organization. “Two trader/brokers, a road transportation company and two organizations with sulphur-fertilizer interests expressed their support for TSI by joining within the last three months,” stated Robert W. McBride, chair of the board of directors. “Based in Canada, South Africa, the United Kingdom and the United States, these five companies illustrate the diversity in TSI membership’s involvement within the sulphur industry and the broad geographical area the non-profit association represents,” added McBride.

TSI’s newest members are:

Chemtrade Logistics – Based in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, this company is one of the world’s largest suppliers of sulphuric acid, sulphur, liquid sulphur dioxide and sodium hydrosulphite, and a leading North American processor of spent acid.

Dillon Transport – Located in Burr Ridge, Illinois, USA, this organization transports molten sulphur.

Sirius Minerals – The fertilizer development company based in the United Kingdom is developing facilities to mine, polyhalite, a multi-nutrient sulphur-containing fertilizer.

Sulvaris – A Calgary, Alberta, Canada group that has developed a technology which converts elemental sulphur into a high-value plant nutrient fertilizer.

TradeCorp Chemicals Trading (PTY) Ltd. - The South African company trades sulphur and sulphuric acid.

Founded in 1960, TSI represents all stakeholders actively engaged in producing, buying, selling, handling, transporting, or adding value to sulphur on a global basis.
