

Allan Pickett
Fertecon

Allan Pickett is Fertecon's Principal Consultant for Phosphates and Potash. He has worked in the fertilizer and chemical industries for 34 years, first with Monsanto, and then with CRU where he ran their Fertilizer Division for seven years. From 2010 he ran his own consulting company, Oxfos, assisting exploration and development companies with potash and phosphate resource projects. In 2015 he joined Fertecon to assist with their analysis of potash and phosphates, and to build consulting work in those markets. Typical work includes market feasibility assessments, M&A, price forecasting, conflict and arbitration, and market analysis. Allan has experience in both fertilizer and industrial markets for the phosphate and potash markets.
